

TITRALAB AS1000 SERIES SAMPLE CHANGER

Applications

- Food and beverage
- Drinking water
- Industrial water
- Wastewater

The AS1000 Sample Changer is the perfect laboratory assistant for automating analyses on sample series.

Titration automation of sample series can be easy. The Titralab AS1000 series sample changer is used in connection with AT1000 Series titrators and TM1000 PC Software to automatically perform sample series analyses (TM1000 Software and connection cables are included in the standard delivery).

Run sample analyses in total autonomy, without user intervention

The rotating module turns the tray to change the sample position while the lifting module moves sensors and tubes up and down into each sample. Single-radius sample trays for up to 30 samples.

Complete automation to free up your time

AS1000 Sample Changer multi-parameter automation solutions release operators' time from cumbersome repetitive analyses for more valuable tasks that cannot be automated.
